Another Coal Fleet.—The Pitts-burgh Commercial of yesterday morn-ing says:

ing says:

The unlooked for rise in the Allegheny and Monongahela produced the usual amount of activity on such occasions among the river fraternity, and coalboat men in particular. The river being at a fine coal-boat stage, all the coal that can be got ready for market will go out on the present water. The present run will be a large one, employing thirty-two tow boats—255 boats of various descriptions, containing 3,854,000 bushels of coal. This will be distributed among the Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville and New Orleans markets. A few floating boats have left kets. A few floating boats have left and others will follow.
